To: All 2013 Iditarod Musers
From: Joanne Potts, Race Director

It's time to start planning for the Iditarod mushers' banquet, to be held this year on Thursday night, February 28 2013, at the Dena'ina in Anchorage. As usual, mushers get choice of seating after the race sponsors have been seated. You will have priority on banquet reservations until January 1, 2013. After that date, ticket sales will be open to the general public on a first come, first served basis.

Tickets are $75 each. Tables seat 10. Mushers do not have to pay for their own ticket. Mushers get two free tickets. So if you want one table and you'll be sitting there, your cost will be $600 for that table. If you want two tables, your cost will be $1350 and so on. We will not hold reservations without payment, either cash, check or credit card. So please don't ask!

New:1) If there is a list of people purchasing tickets for your tables, you will be required to furnish this office a seating list no later than February 11 and 2) Refunds will be made through February 10. If you ask for a refund after that date, refunds will only be made if we sell your tickets. In that case, refunds will be made directly to you.

Please complete the form at the bottom of the page and return it to the Iditarod as soon as possible. We will give you the best possible seating, according to when your reservation comes in.

Sincerely,
Joanne Potts, Race Director/Administration
